

Sarah Millican - Destroying Hotel Rooms and Spending Christmas With Strangers

Sarah Millican is an English comedian, writer and presenter. During her career, she has won several awards, and she tours regularly, mainly around the UK. She was born in South Shields, which lies very close to the city of Newcastle Upon Tyne in the far north east of England. She therefore speaks with a Newcastle (or 'Geordie') accent.

Watch the video in the link below, and answer the questions with as much information as possible. As a comedian, Sarah Millican is trying to be amusing with some of her answers, so the video will require many listens to answer all of the questions.
